THE DATE OF THE NATIVITY.

it would be satisfactory, and possibly might be useful to the religious world to knew for certain that the day on which it calchates the birth of the Redeemer celebrates the borth of the distinction which makes December 25th the great featured day of all the year. But while average humanity in all civilized comparison, in its greater desire to compare the will usually ignore this mosted question, in its greater desire to compare the event itself, there have been those who, looking back as far as they could into the mists of the early centuries, have been compelled to admit the vague and traditional title which December 25th has to the high bonor it epigs. In the earliest periods at which we have any record of the observance of Christians colebrated the festival on the 1st or 6th of January; others on the 25th of March, the time of the Jewsh Passover; while others, it is said, and the save time of the January; others on the 25th of March, the time of the Jewsh Passover; while others, it is said, and the save time of the January; others on the 25th of March, the time of the Jewsh Passover; while others, it is said, the cather of the 25th of Savetanhar (1997). enally is entitled to the distinction the 20th of March, the time of the Jewish Passover; while others, it is said, observed it on the 20th of September, or Post of Tabernacles. "There can be no doubt," says Chambers, in his Book of Days, "that long before the reign of Constatine, in the fourth century, the season of the new year had been adopted for celeinating the Nativity, though a difference in this respect existed in the practice of to dever, represents the fixing of the day of have been accomplished 200 years pre-sensely by Telephorus, who was Bishop of Rome 128-139 A. D. And towards the close of the second century, in the reign of the Emperor Commo-ius, a reference has been found to the observance of Christman century later, in the time of Diocle-in, the celebration of the Nativity by Christians in Nicomedia was made the occasion of an atrocious act of smelty on the part of that infamous ruler, in that he caused the church in culer, in that he caused the church in which the festival occurred to be set on fire, and by barring every means of eress from the bailding, caused the aponizing death of every worshiper. It will be seen from the statements made that, while no record exists whereby to fix with certainty the date of the Saviour's birth, the day we now call thristmas has for at least fifteen handred years been uniformly observed by all the nations of Christendom as the anniversary of the Nativity. And it would be a libel upon humanity to doubt that, unless future research shall stamp upon some other day the certainty of being the true anniversary of the of being the true anniversary of the Saviour's birth, the world and the Church will always continue to hold consecrate the 25th of December as comnorative of that momentous event.
